Dear parents,

I have heard fantastic things about the sports day yesterday and feel gutted that I had to miss it to complete my First Aid at Work qualification. In particular I have been told what a fabulous job the house captains did in both organising the equipment and encouraging their house teams. I have also heard that the long-distance races provided an exciting finish, with the children battling it out right to the end. I would like to congratulate the children on showing great sportsmanship and honesty and for behaving brilliantly throughout the session.

I was also proud to hear that the school was complimented by the hospital on their treatment of a child who hurt their arm this week. We do try hard to provide a level of care over and above, so it was lovely to hear this from an outside agency.

Year six enjoyed a special activity today, a dance workshop with the very special group. Rhythmic Collision are a group of adults with special needs who enjoy dancing and running classes for children. Seeing our children interact with these wonderful people proved what a valuable experience this has been. Thank you Mrs Alley-Mohindra for organising something new and very special.

Work on the new, artificial pitch began this week and is going well. The children are thoroughly enjoying watching the work and seeing it being created before their eyes. It should be finished by next Friday, with the lines being inserted on 11 July - we can't wait to use it!

I would like to say a huge thank you to the organisers of the May Day Fayre, who kindly chose our school and Cranbourne to share the money raised this year. Today I received a cheque for £750 from them which we will put towards something that all the children will benefit from. Watch this space!

I always know when nearing the end of the year when we are writing reports, year six are visiting their secondary schools and the PTA have their summer BBQ. Whilst we are looking forward to meeting our new intake very much, the reality saying goodbye to our oldest children is beginning to sink in. Make sure you enjoy your last few weeks, Y6!
